COMMENT ON CABINET SUBMISSION No.

TITLE: FINANCIAL GUARANTEES BY THE NORTHERN TERRITORY GOVERNMENT TO NORTHERN AIRLINES

COMMENTS:

There are no constitutional barriers to the proposal.

I make the following comments in respect of legal aspects of the proposal:-

1. Cabinet should consider whether it wishes to bind itself to a leverage lease arrangement at this early stage. There is a possibility that other financing mechanisms may be available and more appropriate;
2. It is not clear that the Government can give Guarantees only for the residue of an outstanding amount after the asset is sold up. This is not an insurmountable problem as it can probably be covered with appropriate documentation but Cabinet ought to be aware that the problem does exist;
3. The leases for the Nomads and F27s ought to be dealt with separately but at the same time there should be a cross collateralisation of the two loans;
4. The conditions stipulated in appendix 2 should be guidelines only;
5. I make no comment in respect of the financial matters set out in the Submission.

THE ISSUE

1. Northern Airlines, the operator of the Territory's regional airline, has made application for financial assistance by way of guarantees:-

(a) to support the leveraged leasing acquisition of five Nomad and three Metroliner aircraft, plus supporting spares.

(b) As security for a loan of $1.5 million from the National Bank, to help finance the purchase from East West Airlines of a second-hand F27-500 aircraft.

2. The issue before Cabinet is to decide whether all or any of the support requested is justifiable and should be approved.

BACKGROUND

3. An agreement has been drawn up to record the rights and responsibilities of the Northern Territory Government, East West Airlines and Northern Airlines in respect of the Northern Territory's regional airline. Clause 21 of that agreement provides for favourable consideration by the Government of a request for guarantees to support financial requirements associated with the airline, if otherwise there would be a significant adverse effect on East West or the regional airline. The application for assistance has been made in accordance with the Company's rights under that clause.

4. It is planned that the Nomad and Metro aircraft will be acquired under "leveraged leasing" arrangements i.e. tri-partite agreements whereby a "debt party" and an "owner/lessor" provide the finance, purchase the assets and lease them to the lessee (in this case Northern Airlines).

5. Should the lessee default, the debt and lessor parties would take action to dispose of the aircraft. The Government guarantee is required in this instance to ensure that any residue then remaining on the lease payout figure is also cleared. Figures produced by the company (which are difficult to verify but should prove reasonably close based on experience during negotiations) suggest a total exposure under guarantees of just under $1.7 million during the first six months, and slightly over $1.3 million in the second six months (see Appendix 1). Thereafter the total sale value of the Nomads and Metros could be expected to exceed the lease payout figures. (But see Para 8 (i) (ii) and (iii)).

6. In the case of the F27 aircraft, purchase price is $2.5 million (considered a very reasonable price on evidence available). It is proposed to finance the purchase by means of a $1 million loan from East West and the proposed National Bank loan secured by a Government guarantee for $1.5 million.

7. Security offered for the guarantees consists of:-

- . guarantees from the East West group of companies of the market values of the aircraft upon which the Government's risk exposure has been assessed. i.e. East West would be required to meet the difference between the prices listed in Appendix 1 and any lower prices received, should there be a shortfall on the lease payout figure.

a first charge over the F27 aircraft.

a second charge (ranking after the National Bank's $750,000 first charge in respect of working capital advances) over all the other assets (including uncalled capital) of the Northern Airline companies and any future subsidiaries.

CONSIDERATION OF THE ISSUES

8. A consultant was engaged to work with Treasury officers on the complex issues surrounding this application. Careful consideration of all the evidence and supporting information has led to the following conclusions which must have a bearing upon Cabinet's judgement.

(i) Although evidence submitted suggested that the overall situation under the leveraged lease agreements would remove the Government's risk exposure after twelve months, in fact (as shown in Appendix 1) the Nomad aircraft situation would continue at risk throughout the eight-year life of the lease. Since there would be different parties involved in the two leveraged lease agreements, it is difficult to justify the lumping of the two together in assessing the overall risk.

(ii) The Company's projections of the Metro and F27 selling values are thought to be reasonable. However, Nomad valuations must be suspect since the second-hand market for these aircraft is a largely unknown factor.

(iii) Furthermore, the coastal surveillance contract for which the Nomads are required is initially for two years only. Should the contract not be renewed we could be faced with a forced sale very early in the life of the aircraft, along with a down-turn in the company's income.

(iv) Cash-flow projections presented by the company show surpluses of only about $300,000 in 1980/81 and $207,000 in 1981/82. Already adverse factors (such as late delivery of the Nomads, higher projected loan commitments etc) make even those surpluses doubtful. In other words, the Government's period of greatest exposure would coincide with a highly vulnerable liquidity situation on the part of the company.

(v) The proposed market value guarantees from East West in effect are unsecured obligations. Furthermore, the bulk of East West's assets are held by subsidiaries and the guarantees would have little value unless those subsidiaries were joined in the obligation.

9. In summary, the Government is being asked to assume a risk which is not a commercial proposition. However, the agreement mentioned above requires East West merely to demonstrate that refusal of Government guarantee support would adversely affect the operations of East West or Northern Airlines.

CONFIDENTIAL

Treasury officers and their consultant have concluded that those adverse effects have been properly demonstrated. Without the guarantees East West would have far greater pressures placed upon its liquidity, to the detriment of its operating ability. Northern Airlines, in meeting these obligations imposed by the agreement with the Government, requires finance which it appears would be impossible to obtain without the support of Government guarantees, or a vastly greater injection of funds by East West.

10. A decision by Cabinet, therefore, would seem to be a policy matter rather than one based entirely on commercial judgement. Should that decision be in favour then every effort ought to be made to minimise the risk to Government. The draft conditions set out in Appendix 2 have been drawn up with that objective.

11. The guarantees would be given under the Authority of the Territory Development Act, which requires that security must be sufficient to meet the contingent risk in full. Although not adequate for a normal commercial situation, it is considered that the security available as set out in paragraph 7 above meets that obligation.

OPTIONS

12. The principal options available in this instance are:-

- (i) to approve the request in full.
- (ii) to approve the request in part.
- (iii) to reject the application.

13. Options (i) and (ii) could involve some variation of or addition to the security proposals or the conditions suggested in Appendix 2, subject to final negotiations.

14. The viability of the Northern Airlines operations over the early life of the company appears to be fairly tenuous. Accordingly, to provide an opportunity to acquire the required aircraft with minimum adverse impact on the company, it is recommended that the guarantees be approved subject to the proposed conditions.

PUBLIC IMPACT

15. The arrangements for East West to establish Northern Airlines and take over the regional airline has attracted a lot of public attention and, as might be expected, criticism from some quarters. Similar criticism might be anticipated if publicity were given to a decision to assist by means of Government guarantees which, however, ought largely to be offset by the proposed offer of 49% of Northern Airlines shareholding to Territory residents.

16. Nevertheless, it has been the custom not to publicise individual cases of assistance to industry, except where requested by the recipient, and that policy should be adhered to in this instance. Accordingly, there is unlikely to be any real public re-action one way or the other.

FINANCIAL CONSIDERATIONS

17. This aspect has already been covered more or less in paragraphs 5 and 6. To summarise, the Government's risk exposure maximises at about $3.2 million in total, in the early stage of assistance. Security to cover that exposure is:-

First charge on F27 aircraft $2.5 Million

Second charge over company assets

say - $1.5 Million

$4.0 Million

18. No doubt those security values should be fairly heavily discounted but they are supported further by the aircraft market value guarantees from East West. Nevertheless there is clearly a risk of some pay-out in respect of the Government's contingent liability in the early stages.

19. The situation in the longer term is more secure provided the company operates profitably. One of the proposed conditions requires a continuing stable current ratio i.e. current assets to current liabilities which should ensure that the position is constantly monitored.

EMPLOYMENT CONSIDERATIONS

20. The company is an important employer of labour and this is one of the justifications for considering the financial aid.

CO-ORDINATION

21. This submission has been put to the Department of Law and the Northern Territory Development Corporation, whose comments are attached.

PUBLICITY

22. As observed above, publicity is not recommended.

TIMING

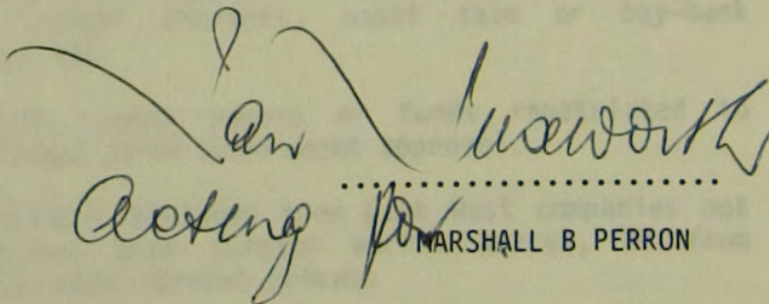

23. Urgent Cabinet consideration of this submission is urged, to minimise further delays in financial arrangements for the purchase of aircraft.

RECOMMENDATION

24. It is recommended:-

(i) that Cabinet give approval in principle to negotiation proceeding for the granting of the requested guarantees, subject broadly to the terms and conditions listed in Appendix 2.

(ii) that the final detailed agreement on terms and conditions be referred back to Cabinet, seeking approval for execution of relevant documents.
